Key monthly insights

Management guidance confirmed during AGM

Roularta held its AGM on 21 May, using the event to confirm its qualitative guidance of limited visibility on the advertising market, which represents c. 30% of group sales, and volatile ad spend trends in the market. The company confirmed that the integration of the acquired women magazine titles from Sanoma is on track. The top-line performance of these magazine titles and the cost-synergies with Roularta's existing news and business magazines are in line with expectations. The net cash at the end of Q1 2019 is reported to have exceeded €100m from €96m in 2018 (probably seasonally-impacted). This also compares to our net cash forecast of €81m at December 2019, driven mainly by (1) normalised working capital requirements (2018 saw a strong fall in working capital needs), (2) lower dividend income from equity holdings (Mediafin and Bayard), (3) additional capex relating to the printing activity (end of the leasing contract) and (4) an additional €8m cash-out related to the last tranche of the Sanoma transaction.

Resilient Media Brands in a tough market

CIM, the domestic media organisation, has recently published the 2018 results of its audience-measuring survey for paid press. Roularta's brands hold up relatively well, with performances that either buck the trend (Plus Magazine for seniors showing circulation up 6% in magazine market down 6% and Feeling, a recently-acquired women's magazine, with circulation up 0.3%) or that perform in line with the market (news magazines which have seen a strong increase in digital subscriptions and Libelle, another recently-acquire women's magazine). Momentum for Roularta's brands should remain strong thanks to the company's "New Deal" marketing strategy aimed at boosting the subscriber base across all the brands as well as brand-investments (revamp of Plus Magazine, for example). The strategy hinges on cross-selling both in terms of brands (bundle of news and business magazines, for example) as well as in terms of media platform (bundling and promoting print and digital). The result is a strong growth of subscription sales across the brands which should lead to strengthened resilience and better visibility at Roularta. The company's Free Press brands are also growing faster than the market thanks to Deze Week (+25% with a weekly circulation of 2.5m).

Valuation assessment

The market currently values Roularta with an enterprise value (EV) of a mere €31m, which includes a market cap of €179m, the value of restated minorities of €7m, €81m of net cash in 2019e as well as the estimated value of €68m for its 50% stakes in Mediafin and Bayard. Our fair equity value estimate is at €19.9/share (unchanged). We value the core Print Media activity at an EV of €99m including the Sanoma magazines, assuming an unchanged equity value of €0 for Roularta's existing print business. We believe this business has value, given, among others, Roularta's leading market positions in free newspapers and in (news and business) magazines as well as its state-of-the-art printing facilities, which highlights a clear re-rating potential.

Company description

Roularta is Belgium's leading media company offering

- (1) local weekly free newspapers in Flanders (Deze Week, De Zondag, Steps),
- (2) nationwide weekly news, business and women magazines (Knack, Le Vif L'Express, Trends, Trends Tendance, Libelle/Femme d'Aujourd'hui and Flair and Feeling/Gael),
- (3) internet platforms (Storesquare, Digilocal, Proxistore, own content websites) and
- (4) a 50% JV stake in Mediafin, Belgium's leading daily business newspapers (De Tijd and L'Echo).

Combined group sales are almost entirely generated in Belgium through (1) Print Media Advertising (40% of group in 2017, ie. excluding the Sanoma acquisition), (2) Readers Market (subscriptions and newsstand sales) (28%), (3) Third-Party Printing (14%), (4) Internet advertising and related (10%) and (5) other sources of revenues (inc. Line Extensions) (8%). Roularta's consolidated accounts include the full contribution of its Print Media activity (advertising and readers market ex-Bayard, internet activity, line extensions and third-party printing). The 50% stakes in Mediafin and Bayard are equity-accounted. The company acquired the women magazines in an asset deal with Sanoma (June 2018), with sales in the region of €70m for a consideration of €25m. The company recently restated its business segmentation to include two activities: Media Brands (86% of group sales in 1H18) and Printing Services (14%).

Analyst Recommendations, Earnings Expectations

Consensus remains volatile, but improving in the past months

Consensus view

2019 consensus EPS estimates for Roularta were revised up a further 6% after the FY18 results announcement in early March (+42% since the announcement), but still reflecting persistent top line weakness albeit with improving gross margins and lower start-up losses within the digital activities, as well as the full-year effects of the end of Econocom's leasing contract (end-2018) and the repayment of the €100m bond (also end-2018).

Consensus currently expects 2020e earnings of €0.87 (up 26% m-o-m) vs. our new forecast of €0.85. We introduced 2021e EPS forecast estimates of €0.86 in April, showing limited growth y-o-y which masks 4.5% EBITDA growth.

Roularta's share price was down 4.2% in May, outperforming the broader market (vs. -5.7% for the Euro Stoxx 600) and Belgian SMCs (-7.2%). However, the stock underperformed Print Media peers again (+0.9% m-o-m). The share's 12 months low was €13.5 (close on 20 February 2019), while its high during the year was €22.5 (4 June 2018).

Two brokers cover the stock, Degroof Petercam and KBC Securities (Hold recommendation). Kepler Chevreux, which initiated coverage in September 2019, is no longer listed on Factset as actively covering the stock.

P/E valuation relative to the sector

A recent re-rating driven by an accounting impact and major digital investments which hurt profitability

Valuation

On consensus EPS estimates, Roularta shares trade at a P/E 12M forward of 15.7x, a 58% premium versus Print Media peers in Europe (from a 90% premium in March). Importantly, the volatility is due to the inclusion, within consensus, of the capital gain on the disposal of the Mediaaan stake which has been largely offset by the value impairment of the magazine titles. In addition, profitability at Roularta is still expected to be negatively impacted by start-up losses in the digital ventures as well as weak market conditions in the ad space for Roularta's core activity.

As a reminder, Roularta has disposed of its stake in Mediaaan, which means Roularta is now a Print Media pure play compared to the past when TV broadcasting (through Mediaaan) was the main profit contributor and the key value driver of the stock (in 2016, 73% of Roularta's EBIT and 80% of its EPS was generated by Mediaaan). The re-rating compared to the Print Media sector is driven entirely by the share price performance since October 2017 as well as the sharp cut in Roularta's earnings estimates due to launching costs in digital initiatives such as Storesquare.

The Print Media sector is currently valued at 9.9x P/E 12M forward (vs. 11.4x previously, ie. a de-rating m-o-m) and at 5.3x EV/EBITDA 12M forward (vs. 5.9x previously), which compares to a LT average of 12.7x and 7.2x respectively. The historical valuation range for the sector is 7.3x-19.4x (P/E 12M forward) and 4.7x-10.9x (EV/EBITDA 12M forward), which suggest that the sector remains at the low-end of its historical range.

Sales growth expectations

Impacted by cyclical and structural effects

Expected Sales Growth

At the end of April, consensus expectations for 2019 Print Media sector sales growth improved slightly m-o-m at -2.8% from -3.5% previously expected.

Consensus sales expectations for Roularta in 2019 remained rather stable m-o-m at +8.6% (vs. MERE +8.4%) with the follow-on impact of the Sanoma women magazine acquisitions which is consolidated since mid-2018, with the full-year impact expected in 2019.

Sector sales are expected to decline by 0.9% in 2020, with consensus expecting sales at Roularta to drop by 2.4% (vs. MERE -1.7%) from -4.3% previously expected.

As a reminder the announced disposal of Medialaan and acquisition of Mediafin have no impact on Roularta's consolidated sales as both stakes are equity-accounted JVs.

The sector is suffering from the structural impact of online media gaining market share over traditional Printed Media and TV in terms of advertising revenues. This is driven by changes in viewership, which is moving from the traditional media to online.

EBITDA growth and margin expectations

EBITDA expectations

During the month of April, the expected annual EBITDA growth at Roularta by consensus in 2019e remains high, at +69%, compared to the peer average of 7.0% (from -8.1% expected previously). Margin expectations remain below the peer average for 2018 and 2019, albeit with an improving trend.

Note that consensus changes to EBIT or EBITDA at Roularta are not interpretable in a straightforward manner. In Roularta's case, its reported EBITDA margin (as reflected by Factset consensus) is positively influenced by the IFRS 11 treatment of its 50% stake in Bayard (and Mediafin, from March 2018), whereby 50% of Bayard's net profit is accounted for in Roularta's EBITDA and EBIT, but where its sales are not accounted for in its top-line. Merodis estimates exclude equity accounted results from the EBITDA and EBIT lines, but other analysts may treat these figures differently, or they may have recently changed their view on them.

The recent transactions will impact IFRS EBITDA and EBIT as the Mediafin net contribution is added as from March 2018. Sanoma's contribution is included in the consolidation scope from July 2018, as reflected in our forecasts.

Consensus payout expectations

Robust dividend outlook backed by a strong balance sheet

Dividend payout

Roularta announced on 1 March 2019 that an ordinary dividend of €0.5/share will be paid out on 2018 earnings, which compared to our previous forecast of no dividend. The amount is in line with the historical average dividend of €0.55/share in years when a dividend was paid (13 years over the past 19 since the IPO).

This come in addition to the €5/share interim dividend (€63m pay out) which was paid out on 19 July 2018. The purpose of the interim dividend was to remunerate shareholders for the €145m capital gain on the Medialaan disposal which was closed in February 2018.

Roularta's targeted pay-out ratio is 30%, which is in line with its average payout ratio prior to the acquisition in France of c32% (2002-2006) and broadly in line with the Sector average.

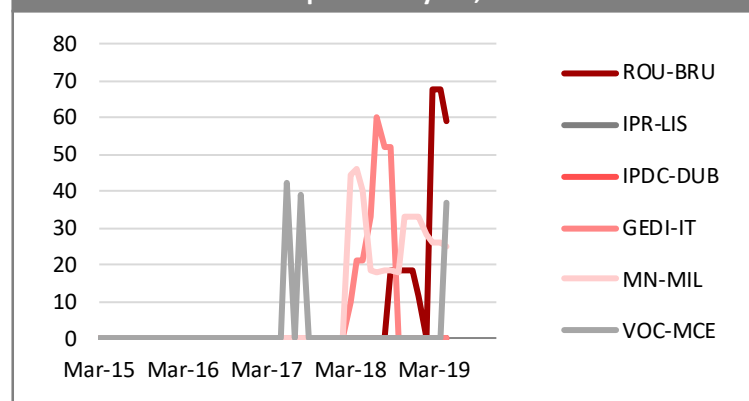

Consensus expects Roularta to pay out a dividend of €0.50/share in 2019e (in line with MERe), with an expected payout of 51%.

The Mediafin acquisition and the Medialaan disposal are likely to have a negative impact on Roularta's (ordinary) dividend payment profile given the lower cash-generation potential of Mediafin vs. Medialaan. We believe, however, that a €0.50/share dividend in the next years is sustainable given Roularta's €95m net cash position following the Medialaan disposal.

Leverage expectations

No longer an issue post the Mediaaan disposal

Net-debt-to-EBITDA

The level of expected financial leverage in the Media Sector was high in 2011 and 2012 and again in 2014 (where it exceeded 2.2x Net debt over EBITDA), but trended down since then, before moving back up with, on average, a ratio of 2x. Roularta's ratio has exceeded 2x only during 2014 but has now reached a net cash position of €95m following the recent transactions (including the special €5/share dividend payout to shareholders and the Sanoma acquisition).

As a reminder, Roularta has paid back its €100m bond in 2018 and should benefit from the first full-year impact in 2019. The company has a covenant threshold of 3.5x net debt over EBITDA based on annual EBITDA including the company's share of Mediafin's and Bayard's net profit.

Going forward, this has become a non-issue given Roularta's reported net cash position compared to a reported net debt position of €63m at the end of 2017.
